

LEADERSHIP FOR SUSTAINABILITY

» Want to expand your knowledge of leadership? Want to recognize the actions necessary to bring about change? If so, this minor is for you.

The curricular and out-of-class experiences offered in this program will help you develop awareness of your leadership potential and enhance your skills in directing organizations and people in a socially responsible manner.

You'll participate in extracurricular events and activities specifically designed to help you extend your leadership experiences as well as your future opportunities.

No matter what your major, this minor can enhance your potential. In fact, there are few career opportunities where working with other people isn't a key to success, and this program can help anyone become more adept at working with others.

This program will help you:

- » gain experiences you can draw upon in job interviews.
- » exercise your leadership skills in a low-risk environment.
- » network with professors, students and outside mentors.

And, you'll have the option of choosing from an array of elective courses that include Entrepreneurial Leadership; Business Communication and Business, Leadership and Society.

Do yourself a favor and check out this program. Your career will thank you.

"Leadership and social responsibility are strategic objectives in many top companies.

This minor provides practical assignments that helped me hone my leadership style. And the professors are invaluable in helping you develop leadership skills.

Now, when I enter the business world, I know I'll be prepared to meet any challenge."
