

Dear Friend:

Whether or not you are familiar with the successes of Charleston Habitat for Humanity, we think you'll want to join us at the College of Charleston in February '08 as we connect with the Charleston community, our alumni, friends, family and neighbors to impact local poverty in a project we call ONE House, ONE Pride.

The City of Charleston has donated the land and the Nelson family, Angie, D'Angelo, Shameka, Ronald, and Ashleigh, are eagerly waiting to break ground on their home. Our goal is to blitz build their home in two weeks, from February 2-16, 2008.

You may be surprised to learn that even with all of Charleston's beauty and charm, Charleston has not escaped the global poverty epidemic and the lack of affordable housing is one of our community's key problems.

This fall we are rolling up our sleeves to begin the fundraising process to support the home's construction. Our primary goal at this time is to raise $65,000 to pay for the construction materials and expenses that cannot be donated or volunteered. Please consider becoming part of the solution by donating toward a home for ONE family.

We are asking you to contribute $25 (any donation amount is welcome – every penny counts!) to our goal. The collective goal extends further than ONE house – creating ONE Pride by uniting Charleston to combat poverty and impact affordable housing. Please check on our progress, sign-up to volunteer, or donate online through our website: www.cofc.edu/blitzbuild.

We look forward to improving Charleston for everyone as we move towards breaking ground on this new home in February of 2008!

Sincerely,
