

College of Charleston 2008 Summer Study Abroad Program

Peru

June 18 - July 18, 2008

Program Directors:

David Kowal, Art History
Felix Vasquez, Hispanic Studies

Program Fee: $3,950*

Courses (participants required to enroll in both courses):

ARTH 290: (Special Topics):Art of the Andes: Pre-Columbian and Colonial (3)

LACS 200: (Special Topics):Land of the Inca: Environment, History & Culture in Peru (3)

Over four weeks this program will travel the length and breadth of Peru exploring its unique geography, history, culture and arts. Visits will be made to important archeological sites of Pre-Columbian cultures (from Chavin to Inca), to cities and areas rich in Spanish colonial heritage, and to locations of unparalleled physical beauty. The program begins in the Peruvian capital of Lima with subsequent visits to Arequipa, Puno and Lake Titicaca, the sacred valley of the Inca, Machu Picchu, Cuzco, Huaraz, Trujillo, and Cajamarca before returning to Lima at the end of the program.

Professors Felix Vasquez (Hispanic Studies) and David Kowal (Art History) will jointly lead the program. Professor Vasquez, a native of Peru, has led College of Charleston study abroad programs to Chile, Cuba and Spain, while Professor Kowal has conducted student programs to Mexico, Spain and Cuba.

*Cost includes a non-refundable application fee of $50 (for CofC students), roundtrip airfare, lodging, transfers, breakfast daily, entrance fees, international student ID card, and international study abroad medical insurance. TUITION IS NOT INCLUDED. Tuition and all other fees must be paid prior to departure.

Application and a deposit of $550 are due by February 15, 2008. Scholarships of up to $1000 each are available to CofC students for study abroad. Eligibility is based on demonstrated financial need and academic merit.

For itinerary and course information, contact either Dr. Vasquez (vasquezf@cofc.edu), or Dr. Kowal (kowald@cofc.edu). To apply, contact Julie Swigert, Study Abroad Coordinator (swigertj@cofc.edu), 843-953-7823.